Eix passenger coaches and a baggage par, the former laden with some four hundred Richmonders, departed yesterday afternoon at 4 o'clock over the Southern Rallway for West Point, where three and one-half hours were spent in viewing the ruins of the recent conflugration. The excursionlast returned to Richt, and last night at 9 o'clock well pleased with the trip and fully impressed with the havoc that has been worked by the fire.

the havoc that has been worked by the fire.

The receipts of the excursion will amount to about $200, and every cent will be generously abnated by the railroad to the relief fund which is being raised to help the fire sufferers. The Southern will not deduct one penny to defray the expenses incurred by the journey.

At West Point the excursionists were met at the depot by a committee of prominent citizens. They were conducted through the burned district and all features of the fire pointed out and explained to them, after which many of the visitors partook of the delightful luncheon which had been prepared by the ladies of the town. A considerable sum

Captain Westbury, district passenger agent of the Southern, personally con-ducted the trip from Richmond to West Point and return, and the many who took advantage of the cheap rate to see the fire ruins are high in their praises of the magnificent treatment accorded of the magnificent treatment accorded them.

The personal contribution fund was yesterday increased $5 by a voluntary gift of this amount by Damon Lodge, No. 7, K. of P.

At a meeting of the West Point Relief Committee Priday night it was brought to their attention that an impression was gaining ground that no more money is needed to alleviate the suffering. They wish to correct this erroneous idea, and any donations will be gladly received in the future as in the past. There is yet much to be done, and while no actual suffering is being experienced by those left destitute, there is still need of additional contributions.

MISSIONARIES SPEAK.

The afternoon session was given over to speeches by missionaries from the foreign fields. The principal speeches were by Dr. Grawes, of China, and Rev. Mr. Lumbley, of West Africa.

Judge Hillyer, of Atlanta, threw something of a bomb-shell in the convention this morning. It came in the form of the following preamble and resolution: "Wheras, by the express words of the constitution under which this convention was organized in 1845, the whole United States and all persons of our denomination making necessary contributions, and all constituent bodies of the same who co-operate with us are invited to representation in this body, without reference to locality, or territory, or latitude, and whereas, in naming this body the phrase 'Southern Baptist Convention' was used at the date above named to suit conditions then existing, but which have long since passed away, therefore, be it resolved:

"First, that the name of this body be dured."

Judge Hillyer supported his resolution in a short speech, but they did not strike the convention with force. Under the constitution, the resolutions went over to next year's convention, and it is probable that they will never get out of the pigeon hole.

The Texas contingent made a strong fight before the committee for Dallas, as the convention city, but the committee reported unanimously for Nashville.

The committees to whom had been referred various parts of the report of the Home Mission Board reported. A number of able speeches were made, and a telegram from Hawanna was read, announcing that Rev. Dr. A. J. Diaz, the native Cuban inissionary, who has given the board so much trouble, and is now antagonizing it, had commenced a suit in the Cuban courts for the possession of the church property.

Dr. F. C. McConnell, the secretary of the board, expressed teh opinion that the courts will throw Diaz out of court and sustain the title of the board.

trusty fellow. It is the happiest of all seasons; it's the heaven of life.

What patience it requires to linger all day by the fishing hole and lazily hold your fishing pole, and wait for the fish to bite! Oh! the thrill of a ripple nibble! And when you hang a 2-pound bass or a 1-pound chub and engerly undertake to hang him high and dry, what beautiful thoughts pass through your brain and what eloquent figures of speech escape from your lips when your line gets tangled in the limbs ten feet above your head, an you see your fluttering prize dangling for a moment in the air, and then, with a farewell flounce, bid you good day as he drops back into the water and darts away like an arrow! This is a splendid illustration of the feelings of a college student trying for honors, who is sure of winning. He sees victory dangling for a moment in the air, and then, with a farewell flounce, it gets away from him, and there is "weeping and gnashing of teeth."

Fishing is the greatest sport in the world. There is nothing so exhilarating to the nervous system as the shock of a "jerk" and there is nothing so relaxing as the sight of a vanishing fish with your broken hook in his mouth. Next to this in relaxation is to sit on a snag or in a boat for five or six hours with bated breath and balted hook, waiting for an exhibaration which never comes. I have had some of my best friends to engage in this sort of relaxation all day long, and saved their reputation as fishermen cuty by buying a string of fine trout from some old lucky fisherman, and then swear at home that they did it with their own hook and line. This is another illustration of the success of some college students.

I believe the best medicine for nervous strain and overwork is a fishing rod and plenty of bait. The world is wild on the subject of money-getting, and glory winning. I love a dollar right well myself, but only for what it will buy and to help some "shipwrecked and forforn brother." I do not object to glory, too, but not at the expense of the happiness of others. I would rather catch fish than make money any day. I would rather be a good live fisherman than dead Caesar. I would rather wade in water than to wade in blood. CHILD IS KILLED BY A STREET CAR

Run Down While Endeavoring to Get Across the

While endeavoring to cross from one side to the other of Clay Street at Flfth yesterday afternoon, Moses Payne, a negre child, four years old, was struck by car No. 322 of the Clay Street line, and two seconds later his life had been crushed out. The wheels of the car did not pass over the body, the damage being wrought by what is known as the life guard or pilot board, an attachment four feet from the front of the fender.

Immediately after the necident, which occurred at 5 o'clock, E. C. Burnett, conductor, and H. Clemden, motorman, were placed under arrest by Patroman Schief. They were bailed a few minutes later by Judge Witt, of the Hustings Court, and this morning will appear before Coroner Taylor, when an inquest will be held to investigate and fix the blame.

The body of the dead child was removed from the scene of the accident to Hayes undertaking establishment, No. 723 North Second Street, where it will be prepared for burlal. The child lived with his morther in the rear of No. 407 East Clay Street. While endeavoring to cross from o

From statements of eye witnesses it seems that the boy was on the north side of Clay Street. He started to cross diagonally, when he was struck by the car, which he evidently failed to see. The fender struck him, and had he lain still he would have escaped without serious injury. But the frightened boy squirmed and kicked until his form had fallen from the fender and been crushed by the filled board. The car was brought to a stop within a few feet of where the accident Zappened.
